

Long Term Services and Support

CARING FOR ELDERS AND THOSE WITH DISABILITIES IN YOUR COMMUNITY

For many tribes, caring for elders and those with disabilities in your community is a high priority. Determining how to pay for those services can be difficult. We worked with a tribe that paid out of pocket for those services for more than 5 years! Here is what we did to build relationships with the state and rapidly subsidize tribal programs to expand LTSS services to more tribal members.

THE CHALLENGE

Find $1,000,000 funding for tribal program

THE SOLUTION

$3,100,000 eligible reimbursement from WA state programs

It would have taken us 20 years to figure this out!

Timing and Approach

We reviewed
14 WA LTSS
State Programs

Then simplified and focused on 6 high value
programs that fit
the tribes needs

Last we prioritized based on velocity and subsidy size

Key Insight

The American Indian Alaska Native health reimbursement landscape is very active. To achieve tribal program stability it is important to monitor and actively engage new strategies to maximize reimbursement. These additional funds will allow you to improve the patient care continuum, add resources, and improve the health of your people.
