Founder & CEO

ABOUT

As an entrepreneur, Kurt works each day to leave the world better than he found it. A lifelong student of philosophy, Kurt believes that business can be used as a force for good when it prioritizes both social and financial returns for customers and investors. Kurt experienced first hand the need for a better AI/AN healthcare system when trying to navigate his native children to receive care off of the Oneida reservation in Wisconsin. Unable to access necessary care, he knew something had to change. Kurt founded Indigenous Pact to create health equality for all American Indians and Alaska Natives in one generation.

Prior to Indigenous Pact, Kurt was the Founder and CEO of Aver Inc, Chief Information Officer for National Audit, and Chief of Staff at United Healthcare. He holds multiple patents for his work in digital health.
