Navigating Federal Relief Funds (ARPA)

Indigenous PACT is a healthcare consulting firm unlike any other. Our mission is to create health equity for American Indians and Alaska Natives in a single generation. Our work is guided by the creation of three core pillars; Healthy Citizens, Sustainable Economics, and Healing Spaces.

Many tribes are looking for strategic and effective ways to utilize resources they received from the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) of 2021. Indigenous PACT is here for you as your tribe navigates unique challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic and the increased responsibility of managing and administering various federal relief funds.

Services

We are able to help your tribe navigate that process with a number of services including:

- Expertise in financial planning
- Federal reporting requirements
- Financial analysis
- Revenue Recovery
- Financial and operational forecasting
- Strategic budgeting and use of government funds
- Expertise in the public health accreditation process

What our clients are saying:

“We have been very pleased with their willingness and engagement. I have found them to be genuinely interested in improving Native health care. I would definitely use their services again.”
